

Stephen N. Pellerin recently passed away in St. Johnsbury, Vt. He was born on Dec. 14, 1954, the son of Leonard and Shirley Pellerin. He attended St. Paul's School in Barton and finished his education at St. Johnsbury Academy.

He worked in Burlington, Vt. for a number of years. In the 1980s he moved to Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. and worked with his father at Southeast Broach Co. He liked to write jokes and make people laugh. He submitted jokes to a radio station in Florida and was known as the "Oneliner." David Letterman also used some of his jokes.

Stephen was predeceased by his father in March 2013. He is survived by his mother, Shirley Pellerin of Barton, his brother, Scott Pellerin, of Buffalo, N.Y., his sister, Marsha Sicard and her husband Paul of Barton, a nephew, Jason P. Sicard of Barton, a niece, Shannon Axelson of China, Maine, two great nieces, two great nephews and many cousins.

Services will be held at the convenience of the family.

Memories and condolences may be shared privately @www.saylesfh.com. Sayles Funeral Home is assisting the family with arrangements.